MISSIONERS KIDNAPPED, CITY LOOTED BY BRIGANDS

Ten Thousand Bandits Burn Honan Town

RANSOM DEMAND

H. E. Ledgard, Of China Inland, Carried Away

(China Press Correspondence)

Lowan, Honan, Oct. 31.—An army of ten thousand brigands and ex-soldiers looted the city of Shangtshai hsien Saturday night, and burned the city to the ground.

H. E. Ledgard of the China Inland Mission was taken away by the marauders but Mrs. Ledgard and their child are safe.

Mrs. Ledgard reported that several American missionaries, who had been captured and are being held for ransom, were travelling with the brigands. They were taken prisoners in the Western part of Honan Province.

Mr. Ledgard had only recently returned from a furlough spent in England and has been back a Shangtshai but a few months. He has been in missionary work in China for 12 years, coming here in 1909.

Peking, Oct. 30.—Reports from Honan state that a party of well-armed and well equipped brigands, formerly General Chao Ti's troops, reached Leima near Chumatien and attacked a detachment of General Chin Yun-hsiao's 14th Division. General Chin Yun-hsiao sent up reinforcements and defeated the bandits.

PICKS LING SHEN FOR GOVERNOR OF FUKIEN PROVINCE

New Chief Nominated By Heads Of Reconstructive Army At Meeting

(Special To The China Press)

Foochow, Oct. 30.—More than one hundred representatives of the Fukien gentry, merchants, educationalists and farmers, including agents of Dr. Sun Yat-sen, met here the day before yesterday upon the invitation of General Wang Yung-chien to discuss the organisation of the province. Opinions were expressed favoring the maintenance of the old system of separating the civil from the military powers.

General Hsu Shu-tseng declared at the meeting that he would act in conformity with the will of the public, immediately restore peace and order and reinstate the old system of government without seeking for any personal gains. Utmost harmony prevailed at the meeting.

Yesterday, Mr. Wang Ching-wei again gathered together several scores of members of the provincial assembly to devise means whereby the Civil Governor of the province might be picked. It was pointed out at the meeting that for obvious reasons it was impossible to accept the order of the Peking Government. Since Dr. Sun Yat-sen had declared that he would not exercise his executive power in this connection and since the election of the governor by popular franchise was opposed by both the agents of Dr. Sun and General Hsu Shu-tseng, it was decided that in view of the fact the province is undergoing a period of revolution, it would be best to allow the military authorities to select their nominee for the position. This was unanimously agreed upon.

Today Generals Hsu Chung-chi and Wang Yung-chien again invited the representatives of the various interests to a meeting at which Mr. Ling Shen, nominated by Generals Hsu, Wang and Hsu Shu-tseng, was formally elected civil governor.

A Romantic Trek From The Land of The Midnight Sun Through The Heart Of Asia, The Fantastic Land of Mongolia, And Mysterious Thibet To Shanghai.

XVIII—A MISSIONARY IN INNER ASIA

By Larry Lehrbas

Inner Asia, devoured as it has been by Buddhism, Shamanism, Lamaism and crude outgrowths of those three primary religions, is one of the most neglected fields of work for Christian missionaries. Valiant attempts to convert the 'heathen' of inner Asia have been made by both Catholic and Protestant churches for many years, but on the whole the work has not met with anywhere near the success that similiar work has met with in China.

Mongolia and Tibet are vast countries with small populations and the missionary, after surmounting the innumerable other handicaps in his way, must either confine his evangelistic work to the four or five centers of population, or waste an enormous amount of time riding across the steppes and prairie trails from one collection of yurts or tents to another. Fresh efforts are being made in Mongolia, but Tibet is still 'forbidden land.'

In their trek through Mongolia and Tibet Serge and his companions in the calvacade met only one missionary—and he was stationed alone on the mystic Tibetan-Chinese borderland. Just before they met him the three cadets had said goodbye to the other members of the calvacade with whom they had crossed Mongolia. At a little Tibetan-Chinese village the horsemen had met Captain Hart, a picturesque Mongolian bandit-chieftain who had studied in Russia when a youth and in the great war had, for a time, fought with the Russians against Germany.

He had collected a small force of 50 men—Kirghiz, Mongolians, Tibetans, Russians and Chinese, a weird, fantastic band of 'black-sheep' of wild, inner Asia, and when the horsemen met him prevailed upon 15 of them to join with him. The three cadets had decided to continue on to China alone as they had no taste for further adventures on the steppes and in the mountains, and especially not as members of a roving bandit gang. The other members left them with a dozen bricks of black brick tea, a few pieces of silver—used as currency in the interior, but which Serge never learned the name for—and rode out of the little village. It was the last Serge ever heard of them.

THEY MEET A MISSIONARY

The next day during a noonday halt in an art they were extremely surprised when they were greeted in English. The man that greeted them—an American missionary, as the were to find later—was just as surprised as they were. He almost threw his arms about them with sheer joy and tears rolled down his face when he discovered they were able to speak a few words in his native tongue. In a jargon of English and Mongolian they learned that he had not seen a white man for four years and as he was on his way back to his mission station, asked them to go with him and rest for a few days before continuing on their journey. The three cadets, devoid of any definite plan except getting it to China near the headwaters of the Yangtsze, accepted and for the next month were his guests.

They discovered that he lived in a felt yurt built in the Mongolian fashion, except that he had divided it into two rooms—for sleeping, and for cooking and eating. The arrangement, while far from making his yurt a palace, at least gave some of the smoke and grime an opportunity of escaping without making his 'bedroom' impossible for sleeping purposes. They ate mutton, goat's milk, bread from a crude flour and an occasional bit of wild game—his usual diet—for the ensuing month, and had their exercise and relaxation from their long, trying ride by going with him on his missionary rounds.

Once they spent an entire day in discussing world affairs—a special occasion as the mail had arrived and he had a copy of the Christian Science Monitor six months old, and an old copy of the Journal de Pekin, a French newspaper. The mail, they found, arrived once a month, being carried along the mystic borderland by a semi-official pony express. With their knowledge of French and a smattering of Mongolian the three cadets were able to begin the study of English under the missionaries tutorship, a labor of love with him as it has been four years since he had heard the English tongue spoken.

On one Sunday they listened to a friendly debate between the missionary and three lamas from a neighboring temple on the respective merits of Lamaism and Christianity. The

AMERICAN GROUP TO ERECT PAPER PLANT HERE SOON

"Fibrecase" Manufactory Planned; Machinery Already In Shanghai

A private company, orangised by Mr. A. E. Mandel, general manager of the National Paper Products Corporation, of San Francisco, has been formed to erect a complete "fibrecase" plant in Shanghai.

Mr. Jack E. Ellis, manager of the Zellerbach Paper Company, has charge of the arrangements for this new plant and it is proposed to put up a temporary establishment in the neighborhood of Dainy Road, so as to commence operation in January. Meanwhile plans are being prepared for the erection of a modern plant on a site to be selected after the arrival of Mr. Mandel, who is expected to reach Shanghai about November 15, accompanied by a competent engineer and a superintendent.

The machinery for the plant is at present in Shangaai and installation is expected to be begun early next week.

Werblow Said To Have Been Lured Home By Trick

(Reuter's Service)

New York, Oct. 30.—Mr. Henry Werblow, who was arrested here on his arrival from China, was lured home from Shanghai by a ruse as it was impossible to secure his extradition from China. His Directors in New York wrote to him suggesting that he return with the prospect of securing a higher post.

Mr. Robert Werblow, his brother, who is in the employ of the China National Bank in New York, has also been arrested. A third man who, in the name of, Max Elliott is stated to have collected the sums in London which it is supposed were transferred by cable, is still at large.

It is alleged that Mr. Henry Werblow, before he went to Shanghai, found a key to the code used by the Guaranty Trust Company. He then, it is alleged, cabled transfers from the account of the Asia Banking Corporation to Elliott, who is charged with cabling some of the money thus obtained back to Shanghai.

The Guaranty Trust Company states that it has recovered £22,000.

Manager Buchan, of the Shanghai branch of the Asia bank, said "there was nothing to it" when shown this Reuter despatch yesterday.

LABOR CONFERENCE

(Reuter's Service)

Geneva, Oct. 30.—In the course of a debate on the representation of countries outside of Europe on the governing body at the International Labor Conference today Mr. Joshi, one of the Indian representatives, contended that such countries were entitled to more than a 25 percent representation. They would not consent, he declared, to the proposed changes which would permanently fix their representation. Mr. Basu, another Indian delegate, who opposed the proposal to appoint six States on the governing body, quoted the provisions of the Treaty of Versailles and eloquently urged, amid applause, India's claims to representation.

Y.W.C.A. Campaigners Well In Sight Of Goal Set For Budget Drive

Less Than $600 Needed Now To Make Up $16,000 Requisite For Next Year's Program Of Activity

The Y.W.C.A. campaign for $16,000 is an assured success. At yesterday's closing rally the total amount reported as in hand, including a few pledges, was $15,438.00. The remaining $582 will come in within the next day or so if all pledges are promptly paid and if a few special gifts now under consideration are made. The campaign workers are certain that not only will the entire $16,000 soon be in hand but possibly a few extra hundreds, which are greatly needed as the budget on which the campaign was based was built upon the minimum needs of the organisation.

The sudden jump from $11,569 reported at the last rally to the total amount now in hand is due to the staunch service of the team workers, no less than 150 of whom have given generously of their time through the past two and a half weeks.

As a method of securing funds for an established piece of work the direct appeal would seem, by the repeated success of this campaign, to be acceptable to the public. It is of interest to know that only $600 has gone into the overhead expenses of the campaign, to cover the cost of printing and of entertainment at the rallies. The remaining $15,400 will therefore be clear gain.

CHINESE RESPOND

The executive committee report that there is a decided increase in the response of Chinese business men, and that great encouragement in this regard can be traced over the record of the last two or three years. A letter from the committee to the Chinese Chamber of Commerce elicited a courteous response promising their interest and approval, and with this backing the number of Chinese givers has increased over that of any previous year, and exceeds the number of foreign givers, although the excess is as yet only in people, not in amounts. The figures for this cannot be given until the total subscriptions have been carefully analysed, but the general results are known.

The money thus secured will be spent for the regular and advance work of the Y.W.C.A. in 1923. $10,000 is for the Shanghai Y.W.C.A. and $6,000 for Shanghai's share in the national work which is administered from the offices at 3 Hongkong Road. The former amount covers the salaries of ten Chinese secretaries and two teachers, the regular overhead expenses including rental of the plant at 11a Quinsan Road, and the cost of programs of work such as the conducting of clubs in nine of the government and private schools and five of the mission schools of the city, maintenance of the hostel for young Chinese business women, the cost of a quiet but intensive study for Association is to make this Y.W.C.A. the place of moral and religious education in meeting the practical needs of the young people of this polyglot city.

MUCH WORK PLANNED

The $6,000 which will go towards the budget of the national Y.W.C.A. will among other things help to make possible the opening of new centers. The holding of the Association's first national conventions, which in bringing together women from all over the country, will, it is expected, be a unifying force for the welfare of China. The conduct of the Training School of Hygiene and Physical Education, which is standing for health and play for Chinese women, the launching of work among the foreign young women of Shanghai, and other works are included in the year's plans.

The directors of the campaign wish through these columns to extend the grateful thanks of the Association to the citizens of the community who have so generously co-operated in making possible the continuation of this work for the development of young women, and to say that any who wish to visit any of the five Y.W.C.A. centers in Shanghai or inspect the methods of administering the funds will be most cordially received.

Signor Mussolini Has Organised New Cabinet

(Reuter's Service)

Rome, October 30.—An advance guard of a thousand fascisti, who will make a triumphant entry tomorrow, arrived at dawn today in small bands, on foot and in all manner of vehicles. They are mostly young men, although their war scars and bemedalled breasts show them to be battle veterans. There are women amongst them. The processionists seemed impressed by the solemnity of the occasion but everywhere were enthusiastically welcomed by the apparently gladdened Romans, many of whom offered them hospitality.

Nice, October 30.—The fascisti arrested the Communist leaders at San Remo, Pigna and Alassio but liberated after forcing them to swallow a strong dose of castor-oil.

Signor Mussolini left Milan yesterday evening by special train and was bidden farewell by a concourse who cheered the King and Italy. He stopped at Civita Vecchia and exhorted the crowds, who welcomed him, to keep calm. He continued his journey amid the singing of partiotic airs.

The vicinity of the terminus in Rome was thronged at an early hour. Signor Mussolini arrived [illegible] and received an ovation. He proceeded to the Quirinal and was received in audience by the King.

Leaving the Palace after the audience, Signor Mussolini, responding to an ovation by an immense concourse, shouted:

"Citizens! In a few hours you will have not a Ministry but a Government. Evviva Italia! Evviva il Re! Evviva il Fascismo!"

These cries were repeated by the crowd with frenzied enthusiasm.

lamas, they found, were friendly to the Christian pioneer in their midst because in addition to possessing a large amount of tact he had an elementary knowledge of medicine with which he had performed seeming miracles among the surrounding villagers who had fallen ill.

SERVICES IN A LAMA TEMPLE

Once, also, they attended a lama service with him—chanting of the rules of discipline to the sound of trumpets, the beating of cymbals, and the ringing of bells, while the mass of Tibetans and Mongolians spun prayer wheels and uttered up their machine-made prayers to their Buddha.

The services were held in a big lama temple, fantastic in color and design and picturesque because of the weird Buddhas, the red-robed lamas with shaven heads, the coils of incense arising in the air, and the continuous purr of soft music with monotonous clangs and bangs from beating cymbals. It all left the impression of a weird dream on their minds, freed of the experiences they had passed through in Mongolia proper by the rest they had with the American missionary.

After the services the missionary, three lamas and the cadets had 'tea' in the priest's quarters in the adjoining lamastory. It was a surprise to the cadets when the missionary told them they had been invited as their only knowledge of Tibetans had been gained from wild tales of cruelty and murder. They were to find that the lamas of inner and especially the region about Lhassa were of an entirely different brand from the lamas along the borderland. Along the border the lamas had become slightly acquainted with the fact that a civilisation aside from their own existed "over there" from Chinese travelers, and from a few of their people who had made, to them, daring trips into the unknown country for short distances. The missionaries' activites had also allayed their fears of the foreigners, and they were, to a certain extent, friendly.

At the 'tea,' which consisted of strange little round cakes made of rough flour and tea with salt and goat's milk added, they learned a little of official Tibetan customs. First they were passed a crystal container filled with snuff, and imitated the lama by taking a pinch and placing it in their nostrils. After the snuff bottle had been passed around they all sat down to 'tea.'

Each drank from a small red lacquer cup ornamented with silver—each drank from his own cup as their religious customs require. Special cups were given the four visitors. The cadets had heard indefinite tales of vestal virgins being in the Tibetan temples but here they saw some for the first time. Ten girls, all vestal virgins dressed in white, passed out of the temple while they were at 'tea' and they learned from the millionary later that they had probably officiated at refilling incense bowls during the services they had watched. They did not see them during the services, however.

HEARING HALTED TILL LAWYER IS ADMITTED TO BAR

Trial Of Fischer-Stone Case Is Then Opened Before Judge Lobingier

When trial of the suit of Emil Sigmund Fischer against Charles Stone was called yesterday morning in the United States Court for China before Judge C. S. Lobingier former Judge C. R. Williams of the firm of Williams Franklin and Faison, who appeared for the plaintiff, discovered that he was not qualified to appear in Court as he had not formally been admitted to practice in China and due to this the hearing was postponed for the space of several hours.

Mr. C. S. Franklin, associate counsel with Judge Williams, urged that the formality of admitting Judge Williams be waived in order that the case might be proceeded with and seconding this Judge Williams said that he had made application for admittance to the bar here months ago, in fact, before Judge Lobingier had gone to the United States.

Judge Lobingier held, however, that although no question existed concerning Judge Williams' credentials and added that Judge Williams had practiced before him in other courts, still he was unwilling to establish a precedent in the present circumstances.

By reason of the situation the hearing was adjourned until 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon and the trial was proceeded with at that hour after Judge Williams had appeared before Judge Lobingier earlier in the afternoon and on petition of Mr. Franklin formally had been admitted to the bar.

The Fischer-Stone suit is based on claims of the plaintiff to title for a certain lot by reason of a mortgage deed that he alleges was executed in his favor in the sum of Tls. 10,000 by his former wife from whom he has been divorced and who since again has married. Mr. Fischer, who is an Austrian, was on the stand through the course of the long hearing held yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Stone, defendant in the case, is not represented by counsel, but Y. C. Woo, former compradore of Reids Ltd. of which Mr. Stone was manager, having filed an intervening claim in the case, is being represented by Mr. J. B. Davies of the firm of Davies and Bryan.

In his petition the plaintiff sets forth that on May 15, 1912 he married Alice Elka Moore at London and two years later, on June 23, 1914, they were divorced, his wife subsequently marrying Hans Rude Hansen, on December 14, 1914. Mr. Fischer sets forth that on February 23, 1914, his wife executed a deed of mortgage in the sum of Tls. 10,000 in his favor which became due June 23, 1914 and has not been paid.

The petitioner alleges that after his former wife became Mrs. Hansen she transferred title in the property described in the deed of mortgage to Mr. Stone, defendant in the case on trial. Mr. Fischer asserts he has been informed that Mr. Stone is about to leave Shanghai and he asks that a decree of court issue for the sale of the property proceeds of which shall be employed to satisfy the claim he holds.

The intervening petition of Mr. Woo, former compradore of Reids Ltd., is based on the allegation that the property involved, after it had been transferred by Mrs. Hansen to Mr. Stone, had been pledged to him as security for advances he had made to Reids Ltd. and to Mr. Stone. He also is asking sale of the property to satisfy his claims.

Circumstances in connection with the giving of the deed of mortgage through the Austrian Consulate that was then functioning in Shanghai were reviewed yesterday in the testimony of the plaintiff.

Three Month Term Given Chinese For Selling Fake 'Fags'

Sentence of three months' imprisonment was served on a Chinese shopkeeper by the Mixed Court yesterday for selling imitation "Ruby Queen" cigarettes.

Mr. W. B. Kenneth, attorney for the British-American Tobacco Company, Limited, prosecuted, and mentioned that the Company was suffering losses on account of the sale of imitation brands of their cigarettes.

Evidence was produced to show that the defendant sold fifty cartons of "Ruby Queen" cigarettes to a Ningpo man. The defendant stated that he was ignorant of the fact that the cigarettes he sold were imitations of the popular brand. He denied that he manufactured them and added that he only acted as a selling agent.

A previous conviction of two weeks was proved against him for a similar offense.

WAUGHE DROWNS ACCIDENTALLY IS VERDICT GIVEN

Shanghai Dock Man Lost Life After Falling Overboard In Collision

The inquest was concluded and a verdict of death by drowning returned yesterday in the case of Mr. Richard Waugh, engineer of the Shanghai Dock and Engineering Company who was thrown into the river as a result of a collision between one of the company's launches and a Standard Oil launch on October 20. Mr. G. W. King presided at the inquest as coroner.

Dr. Gauntlett testified that on examination of the body he found that the right arm was broken just below the shoulder, in a manner such as would prevent him from swimming, besides producing shock and great pain. The injury was evidently the result of indirect violence, due to a fall or a blow on the outstretched hand or elbow when the deceased tried to fend off something approaching him. The witness did not think the deceased was struck by the launch.

Evidence as to the recovery of the body was given by Constable Charles Ess, of the River Police, and the laodahs of the two launches were then called and gave conflicting evidence both as to the manner of the collision and as to what happened afterwards. The laodah of the Meifoo No. 3, the Standard Oil boat, declared that he blew his whistle when 200 feet away from the other launch and shut off his engines. He did not see the foreigner and no one shouted after him. The laodah of the Dock Launch declared that it was he who blew the whistle first and that the Meifoo did not whistle until just before the collision. He had climbed onto the other launch and told the other laodah to stop his engine, telling him that a foreigner had fallen overboard. This the Meifoo laodah denied.

American Drug Company Opens Defense In Suit

Hearing of the suit of George Chiskin against the American Drug Company for alleged breach of contract was resumed yesterday in the United States Court for China before Judge C. S. Lobingier. The action is based upon the allegation that the Drug Company declined to grant a ten percent discount on purchases to holders of a pamphlet called "Pro Bono Publico" after having entered into an agreement to give such a discount.

General Alexander Yelshim, former Russian army officer and recently President of the Russian Economic Society, was the first witness called for the plaintiff. It was set forth that Mr. Chiskin sought to sell the "Pro Bono Publico" pamphlets through the Russian Economic Society for $3 each.

General Yelshim testified that several books had been returned because the purchasers found that the American Drug Company refused to live up to their part of the contract and refused the discount. Under a fire of cross examination conducted by Mr. W. S. Fleming, General Yelshim admitted that he did not know how many books had been returned since he kept no books of the transactions.

The next witness for the plaintiff was Alexis Chembulatoff, who was formerly manager of the Russian Economic Review and cashier of the Russian Echo. He stated that he went to the American Drug Company to have a prescription filled and that the discount was refused even though he personally presented a pamphlet. Mr. Fleming asked him if he was the owner of the pamphlet and he admitted that he was not just utilised it to test out the stories of other purchasers.

In view of the fact that two other witnesses, Mrs. Rossi and Mrs. Hertzberg were not in court, Mr. Lemiere who represented the plaintiff courteously permitted the case to be opened by the defendant reserving the right to call his witnesses at a later date.

The first witness called by the defendant was Mr. George Wilhelmi, manager of the American Drug Company during Mr. B. A. Hensler's absence. He stated that he was well aware of the contract signed by Mr. Hensler, that he had instructed all the clerks to give the discount to everyone presenting the pamphlets at the time of purchase. He stated that in the instances when a purchase was made and the purchaser did not have the book, the goods were put aside until such time as the book was produced when the discount was accorded.

Miss Verna Suares, in charge of the Perfumery department of the American Drug Company, stated that she had never refused a discount to anyone presenting a pamphlet.

Mr. Benjamin Shmoulevsky who circulated about all departments of the American Drug Company in order to be of assistance to Russian patrons, stated that he personally had always given the discount when the booklet had been presented. In the instances where he had refused to give the discount it was because the pamphlet had not been presented, the purchases had always been put aside until the booklet was produced and the discount then accorded.

He stated that he had never given a discount to Mr. Chiskin, because he had never asked for one, and furthermore he never paid his bills. Mr. Lemiere objected that the testimony was irrevelant and Judge Lobingier sustained the objection.

The case was adjourned until November 3 at 9:30 a.m.

RUSSIAN APPEARS IN MIXED COURT ON FRAUD CHARGE

P. S. Nakaboff, Russian, 9 Dent Road, appeared before Assessor Allman and Magistrate Kwan of the Mixed Court yesterday charged by Mr. M. L. Moody with fraudulently trying to obtain two cases of motor parts from the Customs by presenting a valuation slip not made out in his own name.

Detective Sergeant Leer testified that the story of the accused was that on October 19 he had met another Russian on Nanking Road and that the latter said he had a consignment of motor car parts coming from Vladivostok and asked a loan of $100, which he would repay when the parts arrived. The accused reported the matter to Central Station and was promised police assistance, but never again requested it and went to the Customs himself and tried to obtain the shipment. Another Russian named Myers was concerned in the affair but had not yet been arrested.

Mr. Moody testified that the value of the cases was about Yen 300. Accused asked for a remand for the case to be heard by the Russian Assessor, pleading that he did not understand English, but the police contended that there were American interests claimed in the case and declared that the defendant apparently understood English very well and spoke it when he called at the police station.

The case was remanded for one week and bail was set at $200.

Del Monte To Put On Gypsy Ballet By Special Request

In response to numerous requests the Del Monte Cafe has decided to put on the famous "Gypsy Ballet" next week, commencing Saturday. This dance was the first one produced here by Mr. Domaratzky and made an instantaneous hit with Del Monte patrons.

The headliner of the Del Monte show this week is a ballet which Mr. Domaratzky calls the "Carouse of the Polish Hooligans," and in many respects is the best thing yet offered by the capable troupe of singers and dancers brought to the Del Monte by Mr. Hamilton. The new ballet is something on the order of the Paris Apache dance and is hair raising in its intensity and dramatic force.

The individual numbers are also very good in this week's program, particularly the last one on the bill, a duet called a "Small Russian dance" by Nina and Michesiat Korofsky. It may be small in name but it certainly is a large enough thing to look at, with whirls and handsprings galore. It is very beautifully done.

Miss Zina Saretto does another toe dance that is the last word in artistry and consummate skill, and Miss Spampanaya has a dance in this week's program that is fully the equal of the Cossack thing which delighted Del Monte patrons last week. Then there is a classical number by Helen and Jan Domaratsky and a "Beggar Gypsy" dance by the former. Miss Rasamovskaya opens the program with a Valse Fantasie, followed by Miss Bonoslafskaya in a "Cake Walk." Miss Bochogova's number this week is a Mexican adaptation.

Miss Talia Bochogova sings in the same beautiful and forceful manner that captivated Del Monte patrons from the first. She has a wonderful voice.

Your Baby's Hair Needs Your Attention!

Children are suffering from infection of the scalp just as grown up people, especially in hot weather.

Inflammation of the pores of the scalp often affecting the roots of the hair may bring on a multitude of ailments and lead, in later years, to dry and dull hair, dandruff and falling hair. The liberal use of especially during hot weather, will wonderfully stimulate a luxuriant growth of soft, silky, fluffy hair. Children's hair responds easily to 'GERMOL', for it is nature's way. It feeds the roots, keeps the scalp flexible and serves as an invigorating tonic to the hair. 'GERMOL' is effective on young and old alike. Try a bottle without delay, you can find it at your chemist.

PASTOR DARWENT VICTIM OF MOB OF CHINESE ROWDIES

Former Minister Of Union Church Here Ill-Treated In Tientsin

The Rev. C. E. Darwent, former pastor of Union Church here and at present pastor of the Union Church in Tientsin, was insulted and hustled by a gang of rowdies in the Chinese quarter of the latter city last Saturday, according to the North China Daily Mail.

What may have aroused their antagonism is not known, the report states. Mr. Darwent, who is an accomplished artist, had gone to the City with the intention of painting a picture, and was near the Mohammedan mosque when a gang of men began to hustle and abuse him.

He had not started work, and in no way gave any pretext for aggressiveness. Afterwards stones were thrown, as he left the scene. He was followed and again hustled and greeted with abuse.

Complaint was made to the Chinese police, and also at the British Consulate, as although Mr Darwent suffered no physical injury, it is felt that such an incident if unchecked will only be followed by further audacity toward foreigners from the hooligan element.

General Yang I-teh, whose police administration of Tientsin has hitherto been remarkably effective, is reported to be extremely angry that such an affair should have taken place, particularly in the case of a foreigner so much respected, and of mature age.

Local Russian Paper Makes Name Change

The local Russian newspaper known as the Shanghai Life, with Bolshevik sympathies, announces that with today's issue the name of the publication will be changed to the "Shanghai New Life."

The newspaper's announcement explains that the paper was started 2½ years ago at a time when the presence of foreign troops in Vladivostok prevented uninterrupted intercourse with interior Russia, but that now that the Whites have been defeated and the last Japanese soldier has left Siberia its mission has been accomplished.

In its swan song the newspaper says it has "helped to dispell the fog which has enshrouded the work of rebuilding the New Russia," and that the new paper will continue the work of providing local Russians with information about Russia.

At the same time, another Russian newspaper, the Shanghai New Times, makes an announcement that it has added to its staff and plans on enlarging the paper, including English and French sections under the editorship of Marcel Ferry.

Sweets Fail To Weaken Americans

(China Press Service)

Chicago, Oct. 25.—Representatives of the National Life Insurance Company assembled here for the annual meeting stated that despite the popular conceptions regarding overeating and the overindulgence of sweets American men who thus enjoy themselves are considered better risks by actuarians.

The reason for this announcement is based on the fact that Americans who deprive themselves of the little luxuries of life, become so concerned over their daily diet that the incident wear and tear on the nerves caused by incessant worry brings them to earlier graves than those who "take life as they find it" and do not seek to emulate the Spartans in their diet.

London Cigarettes

"The wharves were the chief meeting places of the sailors. There they would gather, puffing their pipes of rich Virginia tobacco, the while telling merry tales of foreign ports."
—Old Virginia Days.

Rollicking Days in Old Virginia

Those hardy tars liked the zestful flavor of Virginia tobacco. Starting from Jamestown, Virginia tobacco taught all the world the pleasure of smoking. Originally no other tobacco was cultivated.

Today there are many tobaccos; but, for cigarettes, Virginia is still the best liked. Virginia's golden sunshine and rich soil produce an appetizing freshness and a zestful taste that other tobaccos lack.

And in Old Mill cigarettes you smoke golden Virginia tobacco at its best. Try them today.

Also obtainable in handy slide packets of 10 cigarettes.

AMERICAN SCHOOL TEAMS IN FINE FOOTBALL MATCH; "EDMUNDS" VICTORS, 6—0

Roy Squires' line plunge in the second period of yesterday's game gave the Edmunds aggregate a 6 to 0 victory in the first contest of the championship football series at the American School. The touchdown followed a steady march down the field, featured by line bucks and end runs.

The winners clearly had the edge throughout the first half. Roy Squires returned Brewster's kick to midfield, where a punting duel between Brewster and McGinnis took place. Neither side managed to make any appreciable gain in the opening quarter, which was marked by frequent fumbles. In the second period, however, Squires gained consistently by his line smashes, and soon brought Coach Miller's squad back on the 1-yard line, where the Edmunds men fumbled and recovered for a loss. A succession of end runs brought the pigskin on Miller's 2-yard mark from whence Roy Squires was pushed over for the sole touchdown of the game. McGinnis failed to make the additional point in an end run. Edmunds 6, Miller 0.

The third quarter saw the rivals fighting evenly. Brewster returned McGinnis' kick to his own 25-yard line, where the teams seesawed back and forth for the remainder of the period. In the last ten minutes of the game, Brewster pushed steadily through the Edmunds line, finally placing the ball in the shadow of the goal. Here the Miller lads showed poor generalship, losing ground on two end runs by Brewster and McDaniel, when it seemed that a line buck could have carried the ball over. This was the nearest approach the Miller men made to the opposing line, as McGinnis shortly afterwards kicked to midfield, where the game finally ended.

Several of the men showed up very well, considering this was the first game of the season. Squires is undoubtedly the strongest man in the School line-up, gaining a vast amount of ground. Brewster played a stellar game in the backfield, and will probably be seen at quarterback. Lawton's tackles were noticeably good, while McGinnis astonished the expectators by his long boots. The schoolboys showed lack of practice, and will not be in their best form for several weeks yet.

Neither team tried any tricks in the first half yesterday, but Roy Squires baffled Coach Miller's eleven by his forward passing late in the game. A couple of long tosses netted the Edmunds squad 20 or 30 yards. The Millers attempted a aerial attack but their passes grounded.

Following was the line-up:

Edmunds (6)	Pos.	Miller (0)
Hager	L.E.	Shipley
Kees	L.T.	Smith
D. Lawton	L.G.	J. Lockwood
A. Rawlinson	C.	F. Rawlinson
Fisher	R.G.	Pierce
Davies	R.T.	W. Lawton
Giffin	R.E.	Wright
Woods	Q.B.	C. Squires
DuRose	L.N.	McDaniel
McGinnis	R.H.	Wiens
R. Squires	F.B.	Brewster

Score by Periods	1	2	3	4	Total
Edmunds	0	6	0	0	6
Miller	0	0	0	0	0

Touchdown: Roy Squires. Substitutions, Edmunds: W. Lockwood for D. Lawton. Referee: Doyle. Timekeeper, Van Hook.

Baer SAYS "BUGS": ANOTHER FIGHT PUZZLE IS ON

Did Buff Lose His Last Title To A Flyweight Or A Heavyweight?

Johnny Buff lost twice as many crowns as the Kaiser in less time.

Pancho Villa travelled many thousand wet miles to iron out the little double champion.

But ticket speculators will buzz you that it was a fight worth scalping for. There were plenty of overpaid admissions and if every champ skirmished like Buff did last Thursday, the fight game would bloom all the year round like a red nose.

Although he isn't all in yet, Johnny announces that he will pull the barrel up around his ears and retire through the nearest exit. He has plenty of the tonic that makes the mare hoof and there will be no wolves holding conventions in his vestibule.

We don't know where Pancho learned how to bounce knuckles. Probably in the American navy. There are plenty of those Manila rappers in the fleets and most of 'em go good at their weight.

Pancho annoyed the scales at 110 pounds, Troy weight. That's only a flyweight in America, where champs sprout loose to around 200 pounds without their diamonds.

But over in the Philippines, the lads don't average over 120 pounds including their beards. Except the Moros in the southern islands who grow somewhat heavier and bigger.

Therefore, Buff dropped to a Filipino heavyweight raised in a land where dwarfs are trumps.

Sounds funny. But the Philippines are far away and it is just as true as anything else you can't prove.

Last Night's Concert

The many visitors of the Town Hall concerts had a treat last night when the famous pianist Alexander Sklarevski appeared as soloist.

It was in Bach's Fantasie and Fugue that Sklarevski had opportunity to show all his musical and artistic power as well as his technique. Bach's masterly counterpoint, his melodies and harmonies, the whole severe logic of this magical music, came clear to the listener and we must be truly grateful for what was offered in this piece. Perhaps many of the hearers better enjoyed the well-known tunes from the Wagner opera arranged by Liszt; however, it is doubtful whether it is recommendable to play transcriptions on classical concerts while so much original piano music is written for the instrument. But it is unnecessary to say that the artist handled his task brilliantly.

Maestro Paci's orchestra and Mr. Foa, the solo violinist, giving nearly the same program they rendered last Sunday, were excellent in their renditions and the whole concert constituted a red letter occasion in Shanghai's musical life.

Molla-Suzanne Tiff May Disrupt Tennis In France

Paris, Sept. 27.—The controversy over Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen and Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory threatens to disrupt the French tennis organisation.

When Mlle. Lenglen defeated Mrs. Mallory at Wimbledon, the official organ of the tennis federation published an article calling Mrs. Mallory's defeat "an exemplary chastisement, a severe correction, an effective spanking."

The French federation desired to relieve itself of all responsibility for the article and now is charged with timidity for failure to stand by "France's foremost woman athlete."

The head of the association demands that W. T. Tilden II be named world's champion because he defeated Gerald Patterson, who in France, holds that title.

Tennis Days Over, Says Mlle. Lenglen

Paris, Sept. 26.—Suzanne Lenglen has played her last singles tennis in tournament matches, she told friends today upon her return to Paris from Le Touquet, where she experienced a recurrence of the heart trouble to which she has been subject recently.

At Le Touquet the champion requested her opponent in the semi-finals, Mrs. E. M. Hannam, of England, to postpone their match, which the latter declined to do, winning by default, but losing in the finals to Miss Elizabeth Ryan, of California, 6—3, 6—0.

Mlle. Lenglen has not lost a set this Summer, and only once was forced into extra games to win. This was at Brussels, during the hard court championships, when she won over Kitty MacKane, of England, 10-8.

Suzanne's decision, unless she changes her mind meantime, means that she will not defend her world's title at Wimbledon in 1923.

JAPANESE PRESS SEES GOOD OMENS IN EVACUATION

Relations Will Be Improved, Is Belief Of Editors

(Eastern News Agency)

Tokio, Oct. 28.—Taking the advantage of the fact that upon the evacuation of Japanese troops from Siberia, the people of Russia and Japan have come direct in contact with each other, though they have hitherto lacked mutual understanding, the popular argument that the relations between the two countries should be improved is gradually gaining strength among the people in this country.

The Tokio Asahi, in the course of its leading article today, says:

"The completion of the withdrawal of Japanese troops from Siberia tends to offer an opportunity to clear up the misunderstanding existing for some time between the people of Japan and Russia. Both the powers-that-be and the people of Japan no longer recognise the existence of any segregated political power in Russia, identifying, in the future, Siberia with Soviet Russia. We therefore want to urge the Government to endeavor to improve the Russo-Japanese relations from the viewpoint of Japan's policy towards Siberia, that is, Russia as a whole."

According to press reports bearing on the intention of the Japanese Government, it is observed in political as well as Government circles that by the withdrawal of Japanese troops from Siberia many facilities are affected to conduct negotiations either with the Chita Government or the Soviet Government and that the powers-that-be are now in a position to carry out the policy with the background of public opinion in this country.

There is urgent need at this juncture, the press asserts, of turning over a new leaf in Japan's policy vis-a-vis Siberia. It is predicted that as Vladivostok has already fallen into the hands of the Chita Government, Russia will once more approach Japan for the opening of negotiations regarding commerce and other matters but taking into consideration past experiences, the press warns that it is imperative for Japan to conduct preparatory negotiations discreetly so that there may be no such misinterpretation in the matter of documents as was the case at the Changchun conference.

In conclusion, the press adds that the recovery of former friendly relations between Japan and Russia is what the Japanese Government is seeking.

DAUGHERTY TO APPLY SCREWS TO WAR PROFITEERS

Civil And Criminal Suits To Be Instituted

(China Press Service)

Washington, Oct. 30.—Attorney General Daugherty has announced that his preliminary investigations have disclosed that either civil or criminal suits, in some cases both, will be necesesary to recover on wartime contracts. This statement was given out after some of the companies said to have been concerned in fraudulent contracts and others tentatively charged with having furnished improper and defective materials, refused to consider restitution.

"Disgorge or take the consequences," Mr. Daugherty is said to have told some of the more recalcitrant. Men closely in touch with the Attorney General's office hint that a vast amount of incriminating testimony has been gathered. It is said to involve some quite well known corporations.

Navy 'Y' Wins High Praise For Year's Work At Chefoo

Mr. Paul W. Brown, Executive Secretary of the Shanghai Navy Y.M.C.A., and Mrs. Brown have recently returned to Shanghai from Chefoo, having closed a remarkably active season of work there on behalf of the sailors of the U. S. Asiatic Fleet stationed there during the Summer—a period of work which has brought warmest praise from American and other officials and fervent testimonials of gratitude from the sailors.

A handsome scroll containing the names of 500 men and officers was presented to Mr. Brown by the two destroyer divisions which recently left for America, in appreciation of his work with them.

The report of the "Y" shows that the fleet arrived in Chefoo on July 7 and from that time until the first of October all of the 5,000 American sailors used the Navy "Y" as their headquarters and their "home on shore." Every night there was some kind of entertainment for the men—late moving pictures sent directly from the Shanghai theaters, concerts, dances, vaudeville, socials, informal "sings," sukiyakis, candy pulls and dinners for sailors in "State" groups, and boxing and wrestling matches. Hundreds of sailors attended these performances nightly and the three boxing matches in September were witnessed by 5,000 sailors and townspeople. Daytime activities included excursions, beach picnics, swimming parties, afternoon teas, etc.

SPLENDID STAFF AT WORK

The staff comprised the Executive Secretary, Paul W. Brown and Mrs. Brown, the Misses Hilda Murray, Marie Speidel, Grace Maddox, Eleanor Kitchen, Mildred Crane, Emma Gustafson, Dorothy Owen, Harriet Reitveld and Mrs. Allison J. Hayes. All these young ladies gave their vacation time to this work as did Mr. Erston V. Miller and Mr. J. O. VanHook. A strong feature of the work was the athletic program which included baseball, basket ball, tennis and boxing. An interesting incident of the summer's work was the sheltering of a hundred or more sailors on three different occasions who were unable to return to their ships because of typhoons which swamped some of the smaller boats, and drove some of the fleet's motor boats on to the beach. The Navy "Y" took these men in, gave them hot coffee, dried their clothing, provided entertainments, and lodged and fed them until the storm passed, which in one instance was the greater part of three days.

The Navy "Y" had a canteen where American sweets, cigarettes, toilet articles and other goods desired by sailors could be purchased at reasonable prices. This feature was one of the very popular ones, both with men and officers.

They also conducted a money exchange, which gave the highest exchange in Chefoo throughout the summer, an information bureau, post office, parcel check, library, and a photographer to develop the snapshot films for the sailors. Writing facilities were also furnished. There were 24,359 meals served in the Navy "Y" restaurant during the three months of its operating.

The funds for the Chefoo work for the past two summers have been provided by the Army and Navy department of the International Committee Y. M. C. A. at New York. Because of the constant appeal for funds from various sources the Chefoo Budget was necessarily very limited.

Before the summer of 1921 there had been in Chefoo no means of entertainment or amusement whatever for the sailors. In the absence of the right kind of diversion many sailors frequented the bars and the advent of the fleet each year was not hailed with delight by the people of Chefoo. The first year of the Navy "Y" (1921) brought a great improvement in the conduct of the sailors according to all reports. The Navy Y. M. C. A. immediately became so great a factor for good that it drew from the citizens praise for its work and commendation for the excellent behavior of the sailors.

OFFICIAL COMMENDATION

Mr. Lupton, American Consul, in writing to the Shanghai Committee of management regarding the work said in part:

"In the past sailors from the Fleet came ashore on liberty to find that there was absolutely no amusement for them, and naturally gravitated to bars and brothels, with the natural result that numberless breaches of peace occurred . . . I am personally unable to speak of occurrences previous to 1920, but in the summer of that year it was impossible for me to find time to attend to my regular work, owing to the vast burden thrown upon me by the visit of the Fleet.

"During the Summer just ended, I had only one complaint from the Chinese authorities, and that in regard to a minor matter which was settled in 10 minutes."

Consul wrote regarding the Navy Y. M. C. A. work:

"I was not here last year, but judging from the reports which have reached me, the results of stationing several thousand men for some two or three months in a place where no opportunity for same amusement or entertainment existed were just what might have been expected.

"The contrast between the conditions of last year and this has been almost incredible, and although the improvement may in some degree be attributable to the better control of bars and brothels, there is no doubt in my mind that the Y. M. C. A. had been the chief cause in bringing about such a marked change."

Mr. Sugden, Commissioner of Customs, said in part:

"There can be but one opinion: that it was most successful and that the Association can be proud of what it effected."

"The sailors preferred the wholesome atmosphere and the clean entertainment of the Navy 'Y' to the resorts they had known in other years," the Navy "Y" reports. "It would seem to prove beyond a doubt that where clean wholesome amusement could be had in preference to the unwholesome, the sailor will choose the wholesome. A liquor license was granted to two foreigners to open a beer parlor and cinema in Chefoo this summer. Although every effort was made and no expense spared to make the place attractive the men preferred the Navy "Y," and the place was forced to close for lack of patronage losing heavily on the venture."

Fleeing Whites Cleaned Out City

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Seoul, Oct. 30.—The railway station is crowded with Russian refugees from Vladivostok. Many of them are destitute.

(China Press Service)

Vladivostok, Oct. 30.—It is stated here that the retreating White army left absolutely nothing of value for the advancing Red Army, having requisitioned the total water transport.

More than 15,000 persons are stated to have left the city prior to the Red Army's entrance, having sold the majority of their household effects far below cost.

It is believed that the Reds suffered heavy casualties in the fighting around the Spassk region.

(China Press Service)

Tokio, Oct. 31.—Vladivostok has been made the capital of Priamur Province and will be governed by a Revolutionary Committee, headed by M. Surikin as chairman. Other members of the committee are M. Ovolivitch, Commander-in-Chief; M. Colebev, Chief of Administration Affairs; M. Laklanov, Chief of Railways.

M. Surikin has announced that the object of the Vladivostok government would be to rehabilitate the country. Private property would be respected, he said.

Dietrichs Now Seeks Chang's Aid, Tokio Hears

(China Press Service)

Tokio, Oct. 30.—Dispatches received from Vladivostok announce that General Dietrichs has gone to Mukden to formulate an alliance with General Chang Tso-lin to launch an attack along the lines of communications maintained by the Red forces.

It is also stated that Red Flags are flying over Vladivostok. There have been no new disturbances however, although rumors are rife over the possibilities of a new government forming.

Later dispatches report that military aeroplanes are flying low over the city keeping a constant watch for military outbreaks. The Peoples' Revolutionary Party for the Maritime Province organised by General Nietszchen are maintaining a municipal guard from troops of the old Chita army.

These troops are maintaining order and guarding the large stores of arms left by the Allied armies. When these troops sent by Chita entered the city the people threw flowers across their path and cheered in welcome.

Colonel Merkuloff who has arrived in Kobe stated that General Dietrichs has established a military base at Possit Bay which he considers impregnable. In the eventuality of his being driven out, however, he intends retiring to the Kamchatka border.

LASKER CAUSTIC, SAYS DRY RULING IS BLOW TO SHIPS

Calls Daugherty "Greater Law Maker Than Moses"

(China Press Service)

Chicago, Oct. 29.—Chairman Lasker of the United States Shipping Board, speaking at a banquet here at which Attorney General Daugherty was the guest of honor, said that the Attorney General's "dry ship" ruling was the greatest blow that could have been directed against the American Merchant Marine. Mr. Lasker said:

"I can prove Mr. Daugherty to be the greatest law maker of all time for Moses made only the Red Sea dry."

Mr. Lasker said he spoke only from the standpoint of the Shipping Board. "I want foreign ships to come in 'wet' as is their right. Forty percent of the passengers are foreigners and do not subscribe to our views. When we are in International business, we only deceive ourselves in thinking that America rules the world."

Shake-Up Impends, Is Paoting Report

(Chung Mei Service)
Peking, Oct. 28.—Some of the delegates who have been in Conference at Paoting over the coming political change have returned to the Capital. The rumor now is that this shakeup will come very quietly without submitting the present Wang Chung-hui Cabinet to Parliament at all.
A wire is reported to have been received by the President yesterday from General Wu stating that if Dr. Wang wants to retire he should be allowed to do so, but that his successor should be a man free from entanglements in any of the more notorious Parties.
The names mentioned as successor to Dr. Wang are Dr. Koo and Dr. Yen, with the emphasis on the latter.

Asia Banking Corporation

October 31, 1922

Our market opened steady and became firm during the course of the day.

In the morning some business in Sterling was done at 3-3⅞ for November-December delivery and in Gold Dollars at 74¼. There were, however, generally good sellers at these rates and the market steadied up until in the afternoon speculators became sellers. 3-4⅛ for Sterling and 74½ for Gold Dollars was offered, with buyers at 3-4⅜ and 74⅝ respectively.

Some business in Yen was done in the afternoon at 64¾ November-December delivery and at the close there were sellers at this rate.

There were sellers of Franc T.T. at 1070 and buyers at 1075.

Banks were quoting 3-4⅞ for Sterling bills, 76 for Gold Dollar bills and 1100 for Franc bills.

There was little doing in the London and New York silver markets yesterday, both of which are reported as steady.

Cincinnati, Oct. 30.—A jury in the United States District Court has brought in a verdict of guilty against Michael Helsinger, receiver, and Joseph Herman and Michael Keck Jr., officials of the Schaller Brewing Co., sentencing them to prison for violation of the Volstead Act.

DEATH

HEMINGWAY—On October 30th, 1922, at Hangchow, Elsie, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. Hemingway, Asiatic Petroleum Company, Hangchow. Aged two months.

One Of The Thirty-One

ONE of the thirty-one prominent Republicans who signed the letter of October 14, 1920, "desiring that the United States should do her full part in association with the other civilised nations to prevent war," and believing that the cause of international co-operation to promote peace could be best advanced by supporting Senator Harding for election to the Presidency, has just been heard from. He is Dr. Faunce, President of Brown University, who recently returned from Europe, where, as he says, "chaos everywhere impends." Europe cannot shift its burden to other portions of the world, but the United States, he holds, has "just as much at stake as in 1917," and the first duty of our leaders is to find, through "mutual counsel, sympathy and economic co-operation," some method by which we can help "our own kin and our customers" to get on their feet.

He does not discuss the League, except to say that "without any political entanglement" America can certainly aid the League of Nations in its humanitarian work. Why, he asks, should America not be represented on the commission on disarmament and the commission on traffic in women and children? We have accepted the worst part of the Treaty of Versailles; why do we hesitate to participate in the permanent organisation of rehabilitation measures? These are questions to which no satisfying answers have as yet come.

The Thirty-One did contribute "most effectively" to the election of President Harding. But that was not the end named in their letter. This was that the United States might be brought "to do her full part in association with other civilised nations." Can we not have another letter signed by all of the thirty-one men who are still in private life expressing their present view? Two years ago they said that they could "look only to the Republican Party," which, it was added, was bound by every consideration of good faith to pursue the declared object", until it was attained.

We have heard from one of the Thirty-One. Some of the others properly sign a letter addressed to themselves. Some have already spoken. But the public would welcome another public letter signed by all (save those in office) whose names were attached to the letter of October 14, 1920. They are here reproduced to refresh the memory both of those who signed the letter and of those who were moved by its high appeal: Lyman Abbott, Nicholas Murray Butler, Robert S. Brookings, Paul D. Cravath, Charles W. Dabney, William H. P. Faunce, Frank J. Goodnow, Warren Gregory, John Grier Hibben, Herbert Hoover, Charles Evans Hughes, Alexander C. Humphries, Ernest M. Hopkins, William Lawrence, Samuel McCune Lindsay, A. Lawrence Lowell, John Henry MacCracken, Samuel Mather, George A. Plimpton, Henry S. Prichett, Charles A. Richmond, Elihu Root, Jacob Gould Schurman, Henry L. Stimson, Oscar S. Straus, Henry W. Taft, Isaac M. Ullman, William Allen White, George W. Wickersham, W. W. Willoughby, Ray Lyman Wilbur.

It may be that, President Faunce, who has intimated that he will later discuss "what the United States can do," will undertake to gather the signatures for such a letter. President Schurman, who gave out the first letter, is now in China.

Correspondence

THE EDUCATION COMMISSION

Editor: THE CHINA PRESS.

Dear Sir: The letter in the local press on Monday is a timely one and it is to be hoped that the information asked for from the Council will be given.

Among other matters which need close attention is the question of how far the Council are going in providing schools for Chinese.

I am afraid I have not had the time to study the available literature on the subject, but I do recall that some years ago it was laid down as the policy to be followed, that the Council should do no more than provide a school, not with a view to educating the Chinese youth of the Settlement, but to give the Chinese a model school as an example for them to follow at their own expense.

I think this is a very important point for the ratepayers to consider.

There are many of us who think that the present shortage of servants, and the very low type of men available as boys and even coolies, is traceable to the fact that the Council are providing the means for the old time boys and coolies to educate their sons for office work, with the result that only the residuum of the lowest class is left for domestic service.

I suppose there is a good reason why my cook's sons should read Shakespeare and be familiar with Roman History, but in my selfish way I would much prefer that they knew how to cook cleanly and well. I am, Yours truly,

Explorer Finds Baffin's Land Wrong On Map

Sydney (N. S.), Sept. 6.—The auxiliary exploration schooner Bowdoin, carrying Donald B. MacMillan and party, arrived here today from Baffin bay.

The expedition set out from Boston a year ago and had been in the Arctic regions since.

MacMillan said he had succeeded in penetrating into the forzen Arctic along the western coast of a point never before reached by a white man.

"I have learned that the salient points in and about the western coast of Baffin's Land are astronomically incorrect," he declared.

"The geography of that country has been wrong for 300 years back, and in fact that first explorer who went there, known to the world as 'Northwest Fox,' never gave science correct data.

"We went beyond the point touched by 'Northwest Fox,' who made his journey into the western coast of Baffin's Land more than 300 years ago.

"I was the first white man in that country since Fox made his trip, and I went farther along the coast than he did. Our party passed 300 days in the ice, making observations from points never before reached by a white man.

"We had an excellent winter, no sickness, and the entire trip was a great success in every way."

His discoveries mean that the entire map of Baffin's Land would have to be revised, MacMillan declared.

"'Northwest Fox' did not come ashore," he said, "but made all his observations from the deck of the vessel, and naturally most

American Senators Would Lend China 80,000,000 Ounces Of Silver

Senator Pittman of Nevada and other Western U. S. Senators have proposed direct aid by the United States to China through the loan of about 80 million ounces of silver still remaining out of the original silver dollar reserve in the United States Treasury.

The loan would be to the government of China and not to the silver buyers there and would automatically extend the life of the present Pittman law in that the silver sold to China would be repurchased in our markets in the same manner in which the British Indian transacton during the war was handled. The Pittman Act of April 23, 1918 authorised the U. S. treasury to break up and sell not to exceed 350,000,000 silver dollars and to replace them from domestic-mined silver at the rate of $1 (gold) an ounce.

The amount remaining to be purchased against the 208,000,000 ounces obtained through the Treasury and shipped to India is about 75,000,000 ounces equal to about one year and a half of domestic production. This would extend its repurchasing provisions from July, 1923, to about December, 1924.

No stenographic report of the Senator's address was made but he has verified the following version made by our representative at Reno, Nevada:

At a recent meeting of Western Senators in Washington a committee was selected with Seantor Pittman as chairman to assemble data and devise plans for legislation, if such be necessary, designed to prolong the life of the Pittman act. Senator Pittman and others expressed the belief that their plans would succeed in extending the operation of the Pittman law for at least one or two years.

The Senator pointed to the fact that recent events in China have solidified the political conditions there and that a stable government with restored credit is now in sight. China must have silver in the opinon of the Senator but it will have great difficulty in securing the volume of credit which it obviously needs. Silver is a vital requisite in these requirements.

The only source, as far as comparatively large amounts are concerned, is in the United States Treasury. This country is traditionally the friend of China and an arrangement to extend this silver credit should strengthen these friendly relations and also perpetuate and increase the trade of both countries.

Any attempt of China's government to secure large amounts in the open market would be fatal in that the price would probably be prohibitive before the purchase was completed.

The remedy is therefore this sale on credit of such silver as China may require at $1 an ounce. This country would be placed at no loss in this transaction because the Treasury silver stock does not represent any costs above that price.

The Senator pointed out that there remains in the Treasury some 80 million ounces of silver out of the total amount that could have been sold to Great Britain under the terms of the Pittman act and that this silver can still be sold at $1 an ounce, at the option of the Secretary of the Treasury. The Secretary is said to be non-committal in respect to the policy of selling this silver and further legislation may be required to compel its sale and provide for further sales that will extend the life of the Pittman act.—From The Financial Review, New York.

A Philosopher Speaks

BY S. E. KISER

When Hard Luck fingers upon my trail
And things insist upon going wrong,
I don't sit down in the dark and wail,
But I pride myself on remaining strong;
I could mention days that were mighty gloomy,
I have made mistakes when the cost was dear,
But in spite of all that has happened to me
There's one reflection that brings me cheer.

I never have managed an opera star,
Nor schemed for power in politics;
I have lost no eye, and I bear no scar
From mixing in brawls as the foolish mix;
Fortune has given me stony glances,
My investments always, it seems, are bad,
But whenever I blunder against mischances
I think of the troubles I've never had.

Fate has given me many a whirl
That was far from pleasing and far from kind,
But I've been sued by a "Follies Girl,"
No squandered million disturbs my mind;
I have indulged in some foolish capers,
And been too trusting sometimes, I fear,
But you'll find my name on no legal papers;
And that I consider a cause for cheer.

I have had to work and I've had to save;
I've never possessed a sinecure;
I have had no leisure to misbehave,
And there are burdens I must endure;
My plans have many a time miscarried,
But my lot, if humble, is not so bad;
My wife was an orphan when we were married—
Think of the trouble I haven't had.

Anti-Scandal Club In England

"Turn the key on scandal."

That is the motto of the latest society in England.

You hold a padlock in the hand, with due solemnity turn the key, and pronounce these words:

"I promise to do my utmost never to say an unkind thing about any one, whether true or untrue."

And having said, henceforth on are admitted a member of the "Padlock Society."

Dr. Armstrong Smith, of Letchworth, England, is the founder of the movement, and his ambition will not rest until millions of people in every country in the world have enlisted under the banner.

"In the course of a few weeks ten countries have joined us," says Dr. Armstrong Smith, "and in another month we hope to have a million members. Our adherents are scattered over Britain, United States, Ireland, France, Austria, Holland, Hungary, Finland, Spain and Switzerland.

"What gives me most satisfaction is that two of our first members were respectively a policeman and a hotel keeper."

The rules of the society are simple and must be accepted wholeheartedly by every entrant. They are:

1. Get a padlock and unlock it.
2. Repeat the pledge in the presence of three witnesses and lock the padlock.
3. To remain a member repeat the promise with an open padlock in the presence of three members every New Year's Day.

There are no fees, no forms and no inquiries. All the society insists on is a promise to try to be more tolerant.

Some Of The Wonders Of Vibration

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS
Eminent Astronomer and Authority on Subjects of Scientific Interest.

"Will you kindly explain the following phenomenon, the statement of which I quote from an author who is not a scientist: 'It is possible by playing a powerful instrument like a violin to strike the right note and get the 'harmony' of an inanimate object, even a bridge, until the great structure begins to tremble and sway with the music, and finally crashes to the ground a mass of twisted steel girders.' To the few people to whom I have told this it seemed ridiculous, and I think an explanation of this strange physical phenomenon from you would clear up the question.—C. G., Brooklyn, N. Y."

The principles of harmonic vibration may be illustrated by a children's swing. At the start the swing is set in motion by a push. When, on returning, it reaches its highest point of ascent, and begins to descend again under the downward force of gravity, a second impulse is given to it, which, added to the effect of gravity, increases its velocity and causes it to rise higher than it would otherwise do.

When it comes back again to the starting point another extra impulse is given, and thus the velocity, and with the velocity the height of ascent is again increased. In this manner the velocity, the length of the arc described by the swing, and the height to which it ascends may be gradually augmented by the constant addition of force to gravity until, under ideal conditions, it would be possible to make the swing describe a complete vertical circle, and so return to the original starting point without reversing its direction of motion.

Similar effects are ordinarily produced by the rider in the swing raising his center of gravity at the beginning of each descent from the opposite highest points of the curve. Raising the center of gravity increases the potential energy, or the "energy of position," which is greater in proportion to the height. The reason of this becomes apparent when you reflect that the greater the elevation from which a body drops the more rapid its motion at the bottom.

An inanimate rider could not alter the position of the center of gravity. When the animate rider thinks that he is pushing the swing downward by muscular force he is really expending the force of his muscles in lifting his body higher than the swing carries it; in other words, he exchanges his strength against its value in gravitational force.

Now, the effect of the added impulses given to the swing may be compared with the harmonic vibrations conveyed directly through a beam of iron by repeated strokes of a hammer, or conveyed by the medium of sound waves, from one violin to the strings of another violin similarly keyed.

The clue to the whole phenomenon is the accumulation of like impulses, reinforcing one another. The additional vibration must be in the same phase in order to produce this effect. If it is in the opposite phase it will destroy, or diminish, the original vibrational movement.

Everybody has a "natural" period of vibration, depending upon its composition, form, elastic index, etc. The rapidity of the vibrations of a violin string, and the quality of sound emitted by it, are determined by its tension, size and length and molecular constitution. If the tension is increased the pitch is raised; if the length is increased the pitch is lowered, and so on. The violin transmits its vibrations to the surrounding air in the form of sound waves. If there is another instrument in the neighborhood, having its strings of equal length and tension, it will, without being touched by the bow or the hand, begin to emit, through sympathetic action, the same notes that are being played by the first one. The air impulses set its strings in vibration, at first softly, but being repeated unceasingly, they accumulate effect, by the harmonic principle, until the sympathising instrument gives forth full tones, comparable with those of the original vibrations. But, of course, no violin is powerful enough to shake a bridge down.

Still, there are circumstances in which bodies very different in form and composition from violin strings may possess similar vibratory powers. An illustration is furnished by the well-known Alpine phenomenon of the fall of delicately poised masses of ice in consequence of the vibrations produced by the voice of a climber. A disastrous avalanche may unquestionably be let loose by such causes.

If you were ascending some of the ice walls on the high mountains around Chamonix, your guide would probably forbid you to sing or play a violin in certain places.

A cannon may ring a bell. Whenever a body of troops marches across a suspended bridge it is necessary that they should break step because the repetition of the same impulses in harmonic succession may produce a vibration surpassing the elastic limit of the result that fracture takes places.

To return to our illustration of the swing, when the force becomes sufficient to carry the swing around in a circle, the situation has some resemblance to that when an elastic body is strained by cumulative vibrations beyond its limit of recovery.

In a story of mine called "The Conquest of Mars," written many years ago, the paradoxical idea was developed that bodies of any kind could be disintegrated by directing upon them a destructive force harmonising with their molecular vibrational periods.

Recipes Of Value

(These recipes are republished by special arrangement with Good Housekeeping. They have been tested by Good Housekeeping Institute, and are worth trying.)

POT-ROASTED HAM

One slice ham, 1 pound; 6 medium-sized potatoes; 3 apples; ½ cupful water, and ¼ cupful brown sugar.

Select a slice of ham about an inch thick and weighing about a pound. Trim off the fat and cut this into small pieces; sprinkle these over the bottom of the baking dish. Lay the ham in the dish and sprinkle the sugar over it. Pare the potatoes and halve and core the apples without paring. Arrange them around the ham, add the water, cover closely and bake at 400 degrees Fahrenheit for about one hour. Baste occasionally, adding more water if necessary. Make a gravy of the juices in the pan. This will serve three or four.

CHEESE SAVORIES

Six rounds bread, 3 inches in diameter; 1-3 cupful grated cheese; 4 tablespoonfuls butter melted; 3 slices cooked ham.

For each savory dip a round of bread in melted butter and then in the grated cheese. Place on a side down on a buttered pan. Prepare another round of bread in the same way and place it on the first, plain side up, and with a slice of ham between them. Brush the top with melted butter and bake at 400 degrees Fahrenheit until a delicate brown (about ten minutes). These proportions serve three. Tomato sauce may be poured over these, if desired.

P. I. Legislator Wants U. S. To Go

(China Press Service)

Manila, Oct. 31.—Representative D. Aignon has just introduced a resolution into the House of Representatives meeting here asking that Americans withdraw immediately from the Philippines and permit a six year probationary period of independence.

The resolution further states that in the event of America refusing, all the present members of the legislature will resign in protest.

Members of the Democrats party have also introduced two resolutions demanding immediate independence and asking Congress to fix a date for the termination of the probational period.

Both resolutions were heartily championed by former U. S. Commissioner Gabaldon who stated that it was the only possible way to test Filipino ability for self government.

Murder Trial In London Thrilling

(China Press Service)

London, Oct. 25.—The so-called Ilford murder trial which has progressed for the past ten days was replete with thrills yesterday. Judge Straford decided that one of Mrs. Thompson's letters should be read, overruling her solicitor's vehement objections. The letter was addressed to Mr. B. Y. Waters on board the S. S. Morea and reads as follows: "I made up my mind about this (presumably referring to the poisoning) last Tuesday when he was telling his mother the circumstances of my Sunday morning escapade and put great stress on the fact at that time that the tea tasted bitter, as if something had been put in it.

"No matter whatever else I try to put in it (his tea) it will still taste bitter, then he will recognise it and will of course be suspicious. If a larger quantity is still unsuccessful it would injure any future chances I might have of trying when you come home."

End Case Of Coolie Accused Of Murder

Final evidence was taken yesterday by Assessor King and Magistrate Li of the Mixed Court in the case wherein a coolie employed in the Ewo Cotton Mill is charged with the murder of a fellow workman on October 26.

The accused, who was charged with having stabbed the victim after a quarrel over the sister of deceased, confessed the stabbing, but declared that the deceased had tried to extort $7 from him.

The case was adjourned for judgment.
